

REPUBLICAN HOPES BRIGHT.

Harrison and Blaine's Letters Have Foreshadowed Their Plan of Campaign.

Col. John A. Cockerill in New York Herald (Dem.) Mr. Harrison's clear, comprehensive and analytical letter of acceptance has furnished a chart for the Republican party, and upon the lines laid down the campaign will be fought. This letter is not only a complete exposition of the Minneapolis platform but it is in one sense a review of the record of the administration, a record which from every standpoint, save partisan malevolence, is unassailable.

This letter calls renewed attention to the sagacity and level headedness of President Harrison. He makes no mistakes. The business elements of the country see in him a safe executive and a wise counselor. It is this which assures his re-election, for no intelligent man with property interests at stake will care to see the country upturned at this epoch by the reckless, destructive, retroactive, uncreative elements behind the candidacy of Grover Cleveland.

Mr. Harrison's letter, followed by the ringing letter of Mr. Blaine to the voters of Maine, has furnished the Republicans with inspiration and renewed courage. Mr. Blaine's exposition of the three great issues involved in the canvass—the tariff, reciprocity and the currency—is as strong and forcible as any thing that has come from his pen since his Paris thunderbolt against Cleveland's tariff message.

He has done good service in vigorously calling attention to the shameful proposition of the Democratic party to wipe out the national banking system and re-establish the fraudulent and criminal "wildcat" state banks, which debauched our finances and ruined thousands of people before the war.

Mr. Cleveland's organs are endeavoring to extract comfort from the result of the state election in Vermont on Tuesday. The Republican plurality there seems to be about 20,000. Since 1872 it has not in a presidential year been more than 25,000 nor less than 22,000. In the year preceding Cleveland's election it dropped to 22,704, and it is this fact that tinges the horizon of the gentlemen who love to contemplate the political aurora borealis.

The fact is, the canvass in Vermont has not been active. A new ballot law doubtless kept many Republicans away from the polls. The state was not shaken up politically. The Republicans double their majority in the assembly, elect all their candidates for Congress by majorities corresponding with the vote for governor, and yet we are told the farmers of Vermont are "weary of the tariff." It were better, I think, for the Cleveland party to drop Vermont and console itself with the big majority rolled up in its behalf by the enlightened state of Arkansas.

Mr. Cleveland's managers and trainers brought him hurriedly to New York this week. They are alarmed over the situation. Senator Hill and his friends are still cold and unsympathetic, and Cleveland has been brought into the party councils for harmonizing purposes. His reputation as a harmonizer is not good, but it is possible that he will be forced to make some promises to Hill and his friends. He has subserviently bowed the knee to the Tammany potentates.

The Indiana labor commission has made a report which shows from the statistics in hand that wages have advanced in that state since the McKinley law went into effect. The efforts of the frantic free traders to traverse the official reports of Peck, Preston and Peelo are both painful and ludicrous.

DISCOVERY DAY.

The West Virginia G. A. R. Posts Will Observe the 21st of October—General Orders From Headquarters.

The following general orders issued by the Department of West Virginia G. A. R. explain themselves:

HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF WEST VIRGINIA GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC. OFFICE OF ASSISTANT ADJUTANT GENERAL. FAIRMONT, W. VA., SEPT. 9, 1892. General Order No. 7.

1. Frequent reference has been made at these headquarters to the celebration of Discovery Day by the Posts of this Department, and it is hoped that already something has been done in each community where a Post is located to observe in an appropriate manner this important event. The occasion may be made one of great profit, not only to the Grand Army of the Republic, but to the youth of the land by showing the value of our free institutions and the great price at which they have been purchased and maintained. Let it truly be "an object lesson of patriotism" whose influence shall be felt through all future generations.

It will be remembered that Columbus landed October 12, 1492, and therefore, October 12th was the day first fixed upon for this celebration, but by recent act of Congress the President of the United States was authorized to issue a proclamation appointing October 21, 1892, as the day upon which this event, so fraught with good to mankind, should be commemorated. It may be of interest to some to speak briefly of the reason for this change of date.

All know that although we celebrate February 22 as Washington's birthday, he was born February 11 (old style), the difference resulting from a change in reckoning by which eleven days were dropped from the calendar in 1752. Parliament decreeing the 3d day of September to be the 14th. Now, in 1492, when America was discovered, this difference of reckoning had amounted to but nine days and a fraction, the remaining two days, almost, being the increase between 1492 and 1752, in which latter year the change was made from the Julian to the Gregorian calendar. Add nine days to October 12th and we have October 21st, hereafter to be known as Discovery Day.

II. Post Commanders will confer with the school officials and teachers of their respective localities and give their hearty and cordial support to all proper efforts to make this a celebration whose influence, through the patriotic and ennobling sentiments thereby inspired, shall be felt through the years to come. The details of such an observance are given in the circular and official programme herewith enclosed. It is earnestly suggested that where a school house is without a flag, the comrades living near by shall, with the assistance of the Woman's Relief Corps and Sons of Veterans, on this occasion present a flag to the school. Particular attention is called to this matter under the heading, "What the Veterans May Do." Let the newspapers also be called upon to aid in this worthy enterprise.

III. Department and staff officers will interest themselves in this movement, and as far as possible give it their earnest support.

IV. Post adjutants will make a complete report to these headquarters not later than November 15 of all exercises in which their respective posts participated on this the 400th anniversary of the landing of Columbus.

By order of Charles E. Anderson, department commander.

THOMAS C. MILLER, Assistant Adjutant General.

Over the Score.

London, Sept. 14.—The Birkbeck bank opened this morning at the usual hour, and business was continued.

Those who still desire to withdraw their deposits are for the most part workmen and working women. The high class of depositors who have large sums of money in the bank have recovered from their scare and they were conspicuous in the lines this morning by their absence.

AT HOMESTEAD.

Rumors that the Firm Desires a Settlement Excites the Strikers.

HOMESTEAD, PA., Sept. 14.—There seems more activity to-day among the strikers and locked out men than for a week and especially since the deputy sheriffs went to work with vigor. They were much excited over rumors that the firm desires to arrange a settlement, and while this is denied at the steel works office, yet it has been credited by a large number of the former employees and they look for important developments shortly. Another source for encouragement among them is the report of a non-union steel worker, who quit or was discharged. He stated that the various departments are not even approximating in tonnage the capacity of such mills, and that there would be a general and very energetic protest among the mill workers if the tonnage system is introduced at the present time.

BELLAIRE.

All Sorts of Local News and Gossip from the Glass City.

The directors of the novelty stamping company yesterday awarded the contract to H. W. Burrows to erect their three-story brick building for the new factory on the site of the old Belmont glass works. This was the pioneer glass works in Bellaire. It was started by a few Wheeling parties and a number of Bellaire men about twenty-five years ago and made several of them very wealthy, but in the past few years the plant lost prestige, and not having been built with modern conveniences could not stand against the competition of more modern factories, and it was decided to wind up. The last stockholders in it will realize from 30 to 40 per cent of their stock.

This city sold $17,850 of improvement bonds at the highest premium ever obtained here for bonds of this kind. They were 6 per cents and fall due in equal proportions each year for ten years. There were bidders present from Chicago, Cleveland, Toledo and Cincinnati, but the bonds were bought by William Sinram at a premium of $46, and after it was known that none of the foreign representatives were high enough to take them, a Chicago firm offered to add $300 to the premium paid and allow them to take the bonds, but the offer came too late.

George S. Jennings, who was defeated for water works trustee last spring by Morg. Nelson, has been appointed to fill the vacancy in that board caused by the resignation of J. T. Adams. W. C. Bergundthal was selected by the city board of education to fill the vacancy in that board caused by the departure of Capt. W. M. Ault to Indiana. Both selections are good ones, the men having served upon the respective boards previously.
